

Calendar Area

The calendar area in our room included the month and the date, which day of the week it was, the season we were in (along with the other seasons), the week's weather, and what day of school it was including hundreds, tens, and ones place for counting. Every morning we would start the day by going through what the date was, the day of the week, the month, the weather for the day, and what day of school it was, which included adding straws to either the ones or tens place. This was located in a place that all students could easily see, even from their seats. Due to this, they could access it while doing different activities during the day and we could direct them to this corner when they asked questions related to it.
